Springfield Republicans Interviewed. The Cincinnati Times-Star of Tuesday has the following interviews with Springfield men published in its issue of that day: Mayor James P. Goodwin, of Springfield, stopped at the Gibson House during his stay in the city. He is a very young man to be mayor of the city, but he is the possessor of a very old head. In talking to the Times-Star about the political outlook this morning,

"It all depends on the prohibition vote. it were not for this, we could shut up bead-quarters and go home, for there would be no earthly chance of losing. I must confess that I think there will be an increase in the pro-bibition vote, at least over that cast for St. John. I do not believe that Leonard will ge as big a vote as Ludiow got four years ago.
Of course, the prohibition party looks more formidable at Springfield than at any other place. The headquarters are there, you know, and we see the full significance of all their movements. I do not think we need fear the probibitionists, though. We can very easily spare 25,000 or 30,000 votes, and atill beat the democrats by a safe majority."

Judge J. C. Miller, of Springfield, O., was

"As to the prohibition vote," said he, "I believe there will be some gain in Clark county. It will not equal Ludlow's vote of four years ago, however. Ludlow, who was Ohio, got 800 votes in Springfield and Clark county. I should say Dr. Leonard will not Ohio, got 800 votes in Springheid and Clark county. I should say Dr. Leonard will not get over 500. And I don't believe Leonard's vote will exceed Ludlow's in the entire state, either. Four years ago, Ludlow got 20,000 votes and we clected Foster, and this time Leonard will not get 20,000 votes, and we will sleet Forsker."

will elect Foraker."

J. W. Marsh is one of the prominent republican workers of the Springfield part of the state. By the way, he is a near relative of Judge Foraker's. Mr. Marsh came down Sunday with Mayor Goodwin, in order to make preparations for the parade. The two left over the Bee Lice this morning.

Commin. W. S. Huffman, who led Comwill elect Foraker."

Captain W. S. Huffman, who led Com-pany "A." jealously called the "Dude Com-pany," in the big parde, was also met.

"We shall always remember the hospitable way in which the republicans of Cincinnati.

and the citizens generally have treated us," said the captain. "We are dead struck on the Queen City, and shall never forget our visit."

LOCAL BREVILIES.

The fire laddies are happy today. This is the 30th. The Jefferson troupe left for Lima this morning, via the l. S. & W., where they play The dead body of a man found near Spring Valley, supposed so be one of the Plug Ha excursionists, turns out to be "only a tramp." A litter of pigs born at Gustavus, O., contained four two-legged ones, one three-legged, two four-legged, and one five-legged-just eight legs short. The springs along Center street, and there were several very fine ones, are all drained dry by the new sewer. It was supposed that they would fill up again but they fail to

The new postal delivery has been ordered to procede on Sundays, and the ministerial and other religious bodies are besieging the president and postmaster general with protests against it.

Quite a nest advertising scheme was hung up in the Arcade this morning, in the shape of a large photograph of the state capitol surrounded by advertisements of the principal city business men. Joseph Martin, an employe of Isaiah Wilon, in Wayne township, Montgomery county, was gored to death by a mad bull on Monday. The animal tossed him in the air and gored him after be fell to the ground. Death ensued immediately.

In mayor's court this afternoon Matthey Donnes, Mabel Wilkinson, John Reed, and John Emmons were all fined $1 and costs for drunkenness. The case of Ed. Lawler, charged with stealing shoes from Warren Carter, is in progress at three o'clock.

We heard, says the Cedarville Herald, a gentleman who voted the prohibition ticket last fall say not long since that he thought the prohibition party would not poll as large vote this fall as they did last fall. This, coming from one of their own number, would seem to indicate that the third party movement in this vicinity is on the wane.

By Order of the Trustees UBBANA NOTES.

Unnava. O., Sept. 29.—About five o'clock this afternoon Mrs. Herman Schellhorn, who lives in the west end of the city, went home and found unknown visitors, i. e., three tramps. One of them was standing outside watching while the other two were going through the house. Mrs. Shellhorn called her neighbor, Mr. Marsh, who came to the house. He attempted to head the two off as they came out when ed to head the two off as they came out when they drew revolvers on him and threatened to kill him. They then fied. On going into the house Mrs. Shellhorn found the tramps had taken a valuable diamond pin belonging to her husband, a silver watch and some Jewelry. The thieves got in the house by cutting the shutters at a rear window. The police were notified, who telephoned word to the Springfield police to be on the watch for the fellows.

HOADLY BUTTON-HOLED.

The Governor Interviewed This Morning on the Democratic Outlook—He Says He Will Only Debate With Foraker,-Wha He Says About the Plug Hat Boys.

Governor Hoadly, accompanied by Mr Jas. Lawrence, of Cleveland, stopped over in this city this morning, on his way to Sidney. where he is dated to speak this atternoon. A GLORE-REPUBLIC man immediately proceeded to pump the bourbon candidate for all he knew, or rather would tell.

"Where are you going, Mr. Hoadly?" "I am on my way to Sidney where I am to speak this afternoon, if my hoarseness will permit.

"What about that challenge sent you by Judge Foraker?"

The Governor replied in a very stern voice I sent him a fair and square challenge last evening, and I am now waiting for an an-

"Well, how about Leonard being a third party, and dividing the time?"

"As to that, I have already notified Foraker that I would never agree. If Leonard wishes to take part he can do so, entirely independent of me. He can have equal time and an equal show for himself. Foraker is belping Leonard in every imaginable way possible. The only difference between the two is that Foraker deals in prohibition in a retail waywhile Leonard wholesales it. That's the only

Here the governor switched off on a "side issue," and asked the reporter how the Plug Hat brigade got along, and whether they got home safely. He was told that all of them seemed to agree that they had a jolly good time and were loud in their praise of Cincinnati's hospitality.

"Yes," he replied, "they seemed to enjoy hemselves. I saw some of them taking in the sights and others taking in something else. But, oh! Law. (with a deep sigh) they all do it, they all do it-even democrats."

There was a silence, for a tew seconds, when the governor broke out into a bearty laugh, saying, "The Post (Cincinnati) made a great mistake in saying, that as the brigade passed my office, in procession, they took off heir hats and called for me, and that I waved my handkerchief and bowed to them. It wasn't me at all, as I was in the back office, and thought it wisest to keep out of sight of such republican demonstrations But it was your own fellow-towns man, Charley Constantine, and he didn't wave a handkerchief either, but a newspaper. Ha ha Charley seemed to enjoy it from his laughter, which I heard clear out in the rear office. But you can't count on Charley as he will laugh at anything." Here Mr. Lawrence suggested that as it was about train time they had better be getting their baggage ready. "One moment, governor," requested the cribe. "What is your opinion of the demoeratic outlook and what do you think the votes will show?"

"Well, sir, I am no prophet. I never was prophet, and as only they can foretell future events I am silent, but ex-ceed-ing-ly hopeful of success. Of course Foraker says be in ntident of success, and he has his friends who advise him and I mine. But as I said before I am no prophet. But now I must go so will be obliged to excuse myself. Good
